Dear Mr. Halpern:

We are sorry to learn that you were dissatisfied with the recent article on New Age music.

In our limited space, we could not include a history of New Age music or mention all those who perform it or who have contributed to it over the years. After talking about New Age at length with Correspondent Scott Brown -- which we greatly appreciate -- we can understand your being let down to find only one line noting your own contribution to the genre. We regret that and regret too hearing that you found other aspects of the story disappointing.

The editors value your interest and have taken careful note of your criticism. Thank you for writing so frankly.

Sincerely,

Joan D. Walsh
